

Top

I made a custom pentagon template that lines up with points of the star. I then just made a wavy line around the perimeter. You want the points of the star to be longer than this layer.

People could customize the edge of their petal however they wanted if they didn't like this design.